30 Days of Gratitude Challenge Day 11 — Veterans Day

Today I am grateful for everyone who served and continues to serve.

Of course on this Veterans Day I am super grateful for everyone who served and continues to serve to keep us safe. My husband was a police officer for many years and saw many things — I watched a mini-documentary about PTSD today and Vietnam War veterans which was quick and eye-opening.

I am also thankful for my continued healing as I actually wore jeans today and went out for a bit.

God bless America and all of our veterans!
