PET Imaging Video from Dr. Eugene Kwon

Here's an informative video that gives a good overview of prostate cancer, imaging in general, and PET imaging specifically.

December 13, 2021 By Dan Zeller

Here's a very informative 23-minute video for both the newly diagnosed and those of us who have been playing with this for a while. It gives a good overview of prostate cancer, imaging in general, and PET imaging specifically.

Dr. Kwon is from the Mayo Clinic and, as I recall, was an early advocate of using PET imaging in identifying and treating oligometastatic prostate cancer.

This video was from the Prostate Cancer Research Institute (PCRI) YouTube channel. I'm not sure when Part 2 will be released.

Click here to view video.

This post originally appeared on Dan's Journey Through Prostate Cancer on December 13, 2021. It is republished with permission.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.