Websites Worth Watching

March 16, 2020 By Bob Barnett

Cook for Your Life (cookforyourlife.org).

Founded in 2007 by two-time cancer survivor Ann Ogden Gaffney and run by the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle, the site features recipes, menu collections, articles and cooking videos.

Family Reach (familyreach.org).

This nonprofit helps individuals and families defend against cancer-related financial toxicity by working with oncology social workers at major cancer centers, providing education, free financial planning and direct grants to individuals.

Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (lls.org).

If you're interested in finding a clinical trial for CAR-T therapy (see "Pioneering Patient") or other treatments for blood cancers, including leukemia, lymphoma and multiple myeloma, the LLS provides free one-on-one consultations with a clinical trial nurse navigator. Call 800-955-4572, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m to 9 p.m.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.