2017 Paul Marks Prize for Cancer Research

November 30, 2017 By Damon Runyon Cancer Research Foundation

Chuan He, PhD (Damon Runyon Fellow ’00-’02), of the University of Chicago, Chicago, was named one of this year’s winners of the 2017 Paul Marks Prize for Cancer Research. The award recognizes promising investigators aged 45 or younger at the time of nomination for their efforts in advancing cancer research.

Read more about the Paul Marks Prize winners here.

This post was originally published by the Damon Runyon Cancer Research Center. It is republished with permission.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.

http://beta.docker.cancerhealth.com/blog/2017-paul-marks-prize-cancer-research