Day 3,058 — A Date With Dracula

I should have the results of my next PSA test by Friday.

March 26, 2019 By Dan Zeller

My local friendly phlebotomist, aka Dracula, just sucked a vial of blood from my arm for the next PSA test. I should have the results online by Friday.

I was impressed. In and out of the clinic in less than ten minutes. Not bad at all.

Here's where we were the last time around just as a refresher:

This post originally appeared on Dan's Journey through Prostate Cancer. It is republished with permission.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.