Zapping Session #7 — Canceled

An interesting development in the salvage radiation therapy to treat my prostate cancer.

July 26, 2022 By Dan Zeller

This was interesting… About half an hour before my scheduled zapping time, I received a call saying that their Death Ray machine (my term, not theirs) was down and they needed to cancel today's session. "We'll just add it on at the end. See you Monday at your normal time." Alrighty then…

That will take me to 31 August to wrap it all up, assuming there aren't further hiccups.
